

SATs Don't Measure You

At Nettlesworth Primary, bright and true,
There's something important to share with you—
SATs are just tests, a small little part,
They don't show your kindness or all of your heart.

They don't see your laughter, your jokes, or your smile,
Or how you help others go that extra mile.
They don't count your courage when things feel tough,
Or how you keep going when work gets rough.

They don't know your talents—your art or your song,
Your dancing, your sport, where you feel you belong.
They don't see your dreams or the things you create,
Or the brilliant ideas that make you feel great.

A score on a paper won't ever define
The wonderful, unique, one-of-a-kind you that shines.
So try your best, be brave, give it a go—
But remember: you're more than the marks that you show.

Be proud of yourself for the effort you bring,
For learning, for growing, for everything!
Because here in our school, we all understand:
You're amazing already—just as you stand.
